

Project Manager / Senior Structural Engineer

Location: Sydney, Australia

About the Position:

K&C Australia, is seeking a talented Protective Design Project Manager with extensive structural engineering experience in designing, assessing, and analyzing structures and facades to manage several on-going and upcoming projects through design, analysis and delivery to various defense, government and private clients. The position will support the delivery of protective engineering design projects for such tasks as threat, vulnerability risk assessments, impact/blast analysis and impact/blast resistant design of structures and facades.

Applicants should have two to five years in a Project Management role with at least four to five years in structural engineering design. Explicit experience in blast design is not required, but a valued plus.

About K&C:

K&C is a leader in the explosive effects and protective design field. Our mission is focused on solving complex and challenging problems using state-of-the-art testing, analysis, and design methodologies that we have developed over our 75 year history.

Candidate Requirements:

- Strong organizational and project management skills.
- Experienced delivery of major projects with multi-disciplinary coordination.
- Excellent written/verbal communication skills.
- Ability to develop and maintain client relationships.
- Highly motivated, proactive and willing to take on new challenges.
- Bachelor of Civil/Structural Engineering or equivalent.
- Masters of Science or Engineering preferred.
- 2-5+ years of project management experience.
- 4-5+ years of structural engineering experience.
- Australian Citizenship preferred (not explicitly required).
- Achieved or pursuing professional engineering licensure.
- In depth understanding of structural dynamics.
- Risk Management experience with a demonstrated interest and experience in Security.
- Strong understanding of façade engineering.

Interested candidates should send a resume & cover letter to: careers@kcse.com

JOB OPENING!

K&C's SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA OFFICE

